

Internal Safety Day (November 2015)

“If I am honest: I was expecting to be bored, thought I would be lectured to and subjected to endless amounts of PowerPoint slides and Excel spread sheets filled with stats. What I did find was an extremely well organised, professional presentation, covering many subjects in an engaging, powerful, memorable and informative way. I believe I took far more away from this day, than I thought possible before I arrived. This type of presentation has far more relevance for my daily work life and it will be beneficially in the future. It is obvious that a large amount of thought went into delivering something different, which was a risk with such a mixed audience, but it worked well. Thank you”

Other feedback

“Inspiring and a real eye opener”.

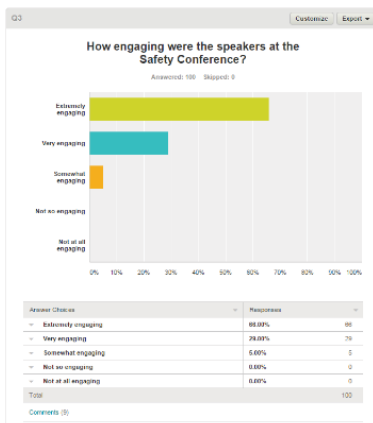

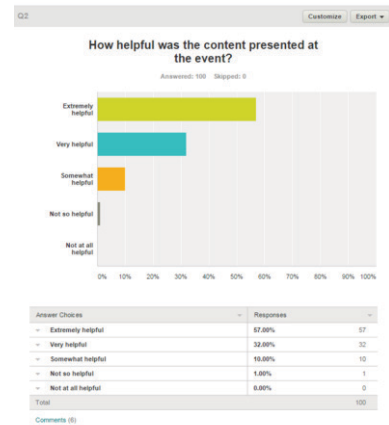

“Given me a real injection into what we can achieve regarding health and safety”.

“The best health and safety speakers I have had the opportunity to listen and learn from”.

“The session was innovative and challenging. Let’s do more of this type of thing - very impactful. Thank you”.

“First class, different but massively engaging”.

“I was engaged the whole way through the session, very positive and extremely helpful”.

“Without doubt the finest, most engaging, thought provoking and motivational Safety event I have ever attended. Thought all speakers were outstanding”.

“Thank you for the investment. I am new in my site manager role and we already have 5 gold Rospa awards but this can only make my site even safer and given me lots of ideas to pass onto my team and all colleagues on site. Thank you once again”.

Ian Broad – Head of HSEQ